TON

ORGATEC

Goofy from TON is a system with a range of different segments and headrests which can create a classic lounge suite by the wall as well as a private chill-out area in an open space. Based on the desire to make a bench that breaches the classic proportions of lounge suites, designer Sam Sannia played with its shapes and made a bench that looks more like a sofa with a low rest. Additional rest panels that lengthen the bench by up to 155cm create other functional but also aesthetic elements. Visit TON at ORGATEC, hall 10.2 stand J51.

Astro Lighting

With its distinct cantilever profile, Ravello is one of a growing number of product families in Astro Lighting's range which provide design cohesion across different lighting functions. Each of Ravello's wall light, table and floor lamp variants is a sleek, modern, clean-lined luminaire in its own right, but thanks to their unity of form, the Ravello family combine to create striking yet harmonious lighting schemes. Compatible with LEDs, Ravello comes in polished chrome, matt nickel and bronze combined with standard shade options of white, black and oyster with built-in diffuser.

Using magnetic induction to transfer electrical energy from a power source such as a charging mat or charging spot, Wave is equipped with an Apple lightning connector and a micro USB to cover all eventualities. CMD celebrates its 30th anniversary this year, having grown from a simple cable management division to having five distinct product ranges, which can be explored in its latest 2014 catalogue.
